Lifelong Qualities for Learners

identity

As central to their mission and ministry, Lutheran schools seek to nurture individuals, who are aware of their humanity, open to the influence of Holy Spirit, and growing in and living according to a cohesive worldview.

living in community reflecting characteristics of God through core values, especially love, justice, compassion, forgiveness, service, humility, courage, hope, quality and appreciation.

contributing to community by being...

Listener and communicator: EQ focus
- Open, responsive communicators and facilitators
- Principled, resilient collaborators and leaders
- Caring, steadfast supporters and advocates

Searcher and learner: IQ focus
- Self-directed, insightful investigators and learners
- Discerning, resourceful problem solvers and implementers
- Adept, creative producers and contributors

Figure 1: Diagramatic representation of the components comprising Lifelong Qualities for Learners