Postgraduate Certificate in Educational Leadership

All LDP participants are expected to complete the Postgraduate Certificate in Educational Leadership offered through the Australian Catholic University (ACU).

ACU's Postgraduate Certificate in Educational Leadership is directed towards educators who want to be people of influence in education. The units provide context and experience to assist students to understand concepts such as authentic leadership and management, learning communities, spirituality, professional development, quality learning and educational change. All these concepts are expressed within the context of Christian values.

Recent Australian research has established that when teachers perceive themselves as leaders and are able to engage as leaders in the teaching and learning process, schools are transformed as learning communities. This course aims to explore the often divided worlds of teaching and leading in a conceptually sophisticated and strategically powerful way, so as to nurture sustainable educational change, led primarily by teachers. This course will explore new concepts and approaches to teaching and learning that highlight the partnership of teachers and administrators in building a culture of leadership in schools.

In addition to two core units undertaken through ACU, participants will also complete the core unit, 'Education and Theology in Dialogue', through ALC. A fourth unit (taken in semester 3), will be an elective of the participant's choosing, from either ALC or ACU. This elective will support an area of growth as highlighted in the profile.

Requirements for the Postgraduate Certificate in Educational Leadership are as follows:

Complete four 10 credit point units

- Unit 1 will be Foundations of Educational Leadership (ACU)
- Unit 2 will be Education and Theology in Dialogue (ALC)
- Unit 3 will be Leading Self, Leading Communities [ACU EDLE681] OR Elective from ALC
- Unit 4 will be Educational Leadership Special Studies (ACU)

Note: The first unit Foundations of Educational Leadership will be offered as a Leadership Symposium. This unit is built on and followed in Semester 2 2019 with the fourth unit Research Project Part 1. The project will provide an opportunity for you to reflect on your mentoring experience.

The aim of the Leadership Symposium is to provide an enriching professional learning experience where LDP participants are challenged and inspired as they 'sit at the feet of thinkers'.

For those undertaking the ACU Postgraduate Certificate in Educational Leadership, attendance and participation in the Symposium will meet the requirements of the EDLE680 Foundations of Educational Leadership unit. The primary focus of the Symposium will be on perspectives on leadership, ethics and values in Lutheran education, conceptions of leadership and leadership capabilities. ACU unit descriptions

- EDLE680: Foundations of Educational Leadership
This core unit provides an overview of Educational Leadership, Management and Administration as a field of practice and research. It is built around an understanding of the histories of the field and the different ways in which they have contributed to, and play out, in contemporary issues and practice. The purpose of the unit is to ensure that graduates have an understanding of the foundations of educational leadership, management and administration and can relate these to their contexts, particularly Catholic and/or faith-based educational organisations.
- EDLE 690: Educational Leadership Special Studies
This unit will be the experience that pulls together the learning and experiences from the various activities within the Postgraduate Certificate in Educational Leadership. The outcome of the unit is the writing and presenting of a project report that will record the student's experiences in capability profiling, mentoring meetings, course work and journaling. The project report will focus on challenges, strengths, growth and leaning experienced during the program and future plans for development.

ALC unit description

- DE9016L Education and Theology in Dialogue
The unit begins with research into the nature of truth in both theology and educational theory, along with the particular contributions of both theology and educational theory to the practice of education. Students re-examine some theological themes important for educational practice along with particular Lutheran theological emphases associated with them. Among these areas of theology are creation, the two kingdoms, law and gospel, Christian as saint and sinner, theology of the cross, church and ministry, sacrament, and vocation. Students also evaluate existing formulations of educational principles and reformulate them for today's educational context. Central to the unit is research by each student into a specific issue in education and theology which serves as a tool for appraising it.
