

Service learning in Lutheran schools

National service learning possibilities

National service learning projects or activities typically revolve around Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander communities, newly settled refugee communities or church or community groups in other areas of the country.

When looking for a national project for your school to include in their service learning program, always consider these questions:

1. How can this service be an authentic service learning project for our school?
2. Is it sustainable?
3. How can serving through this organisation fit into the curriculum?

Some possibilities:

Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander communities

Finke River Mission

Far north Queensland mission

Refugee communities

Shepparton

Rural or remote churches to encourage and serve

Speak to your district church office for ideas and possibilities.
